anytime we needed a
during English or Study Hall you came there by giving us laugh. I don't know what we would have the same loss next year.*

A city silhouetted against the sky,
Man rushing towards the stars,

Cars gleaming
in rush hour sun,
Crisp autumn air
split by partisan screams.

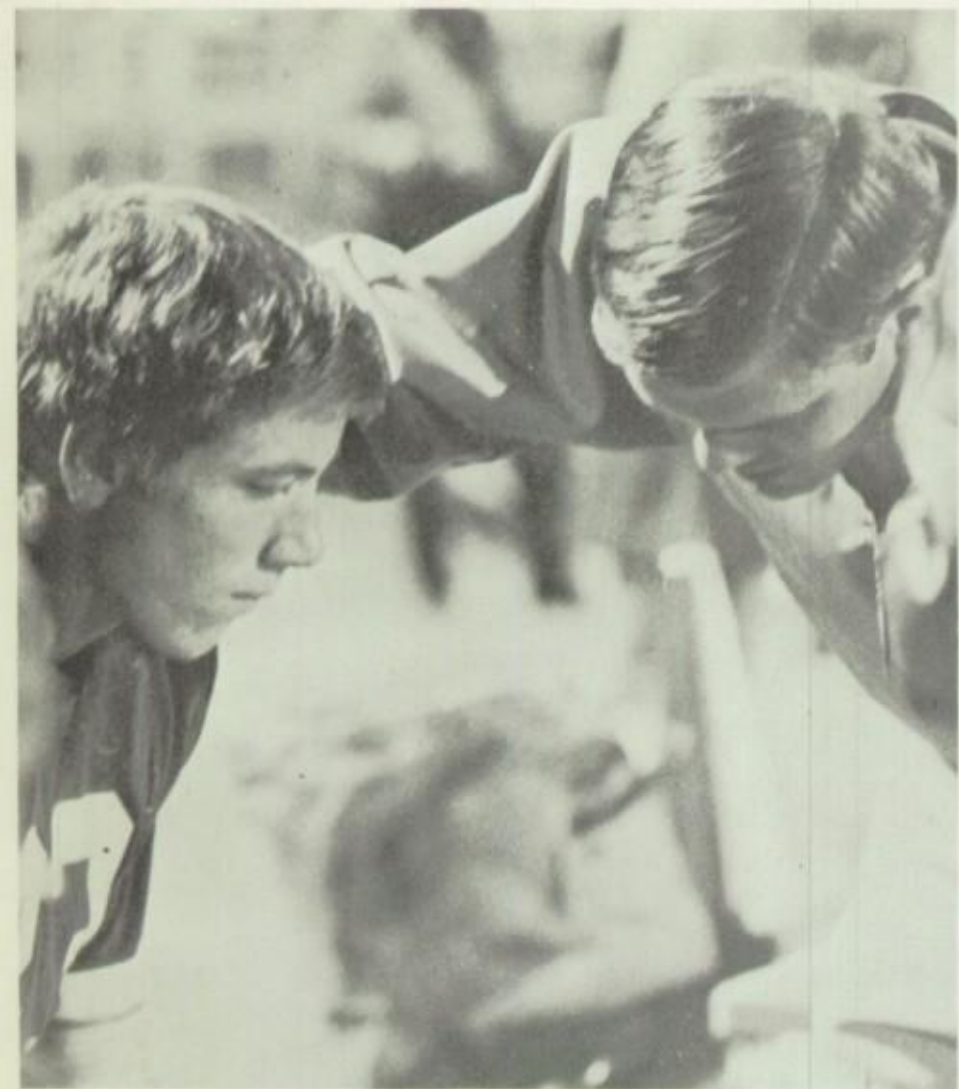

Racing the bell to hear of men
past,
Or looking for an answer to be
logically found,

And laughing with someone,
About something,

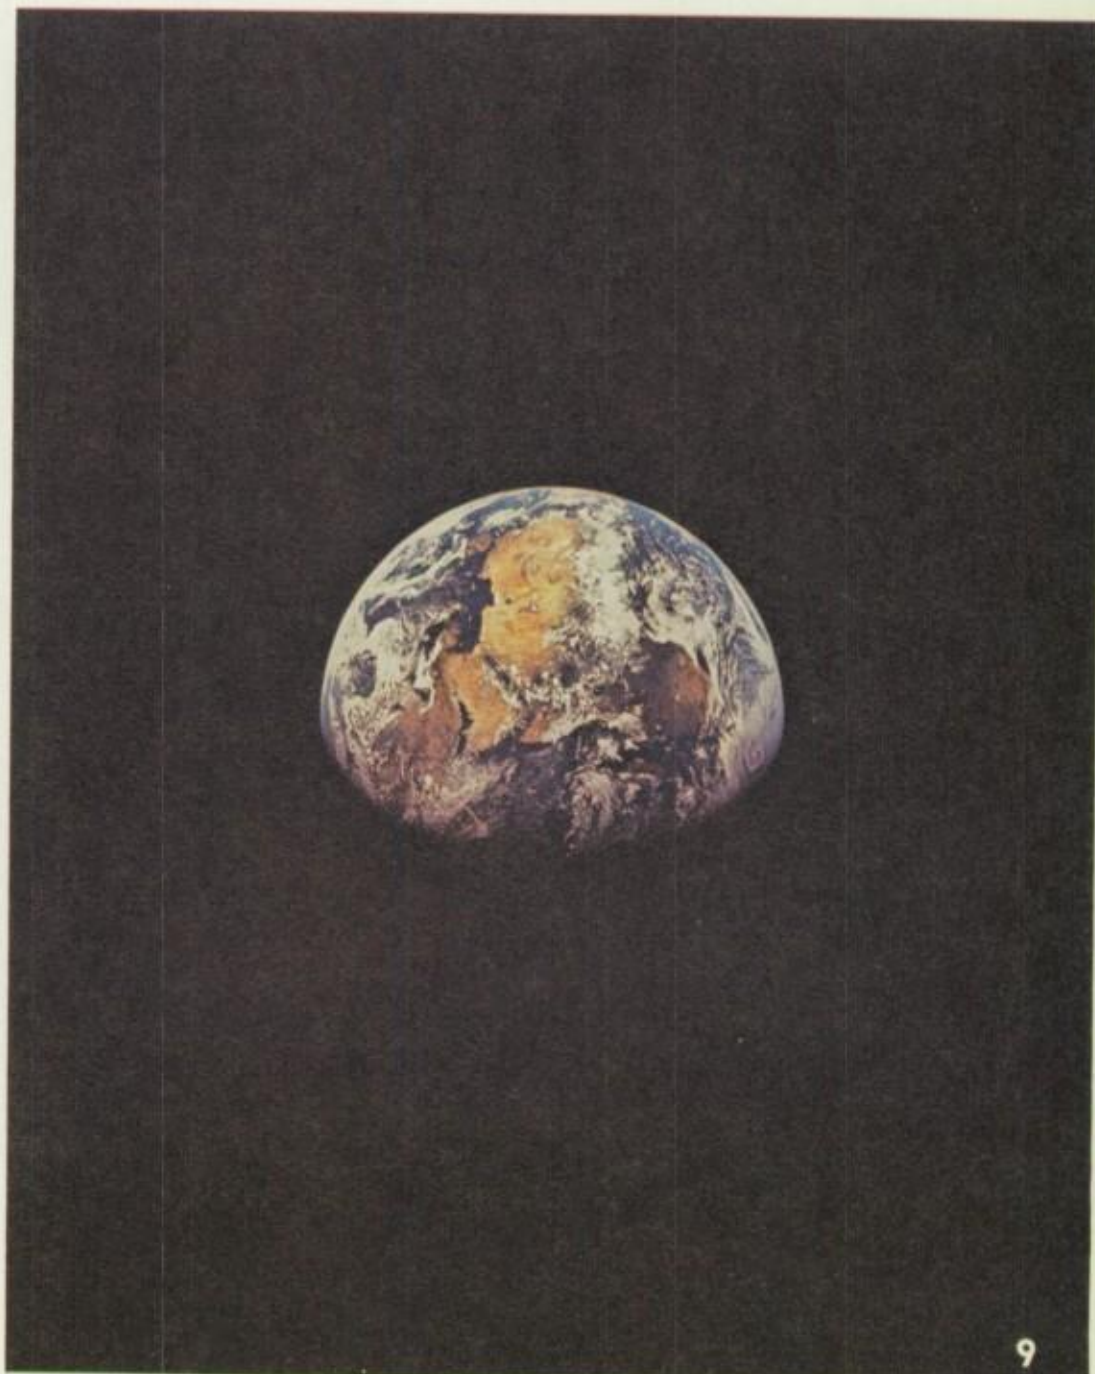

and crying,
and living,

In times when we are able
To watch the earth rise
Above a lunar horizon.

We dance,
We talk,
We feel,

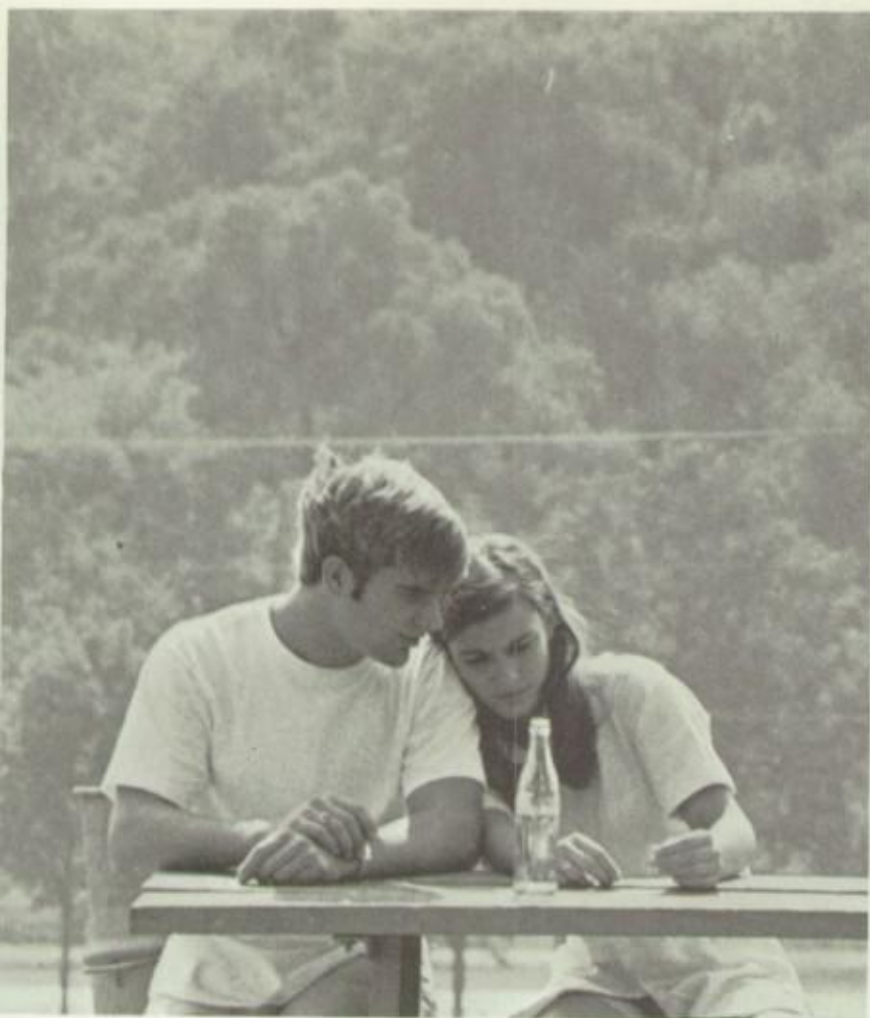

We want to be different.

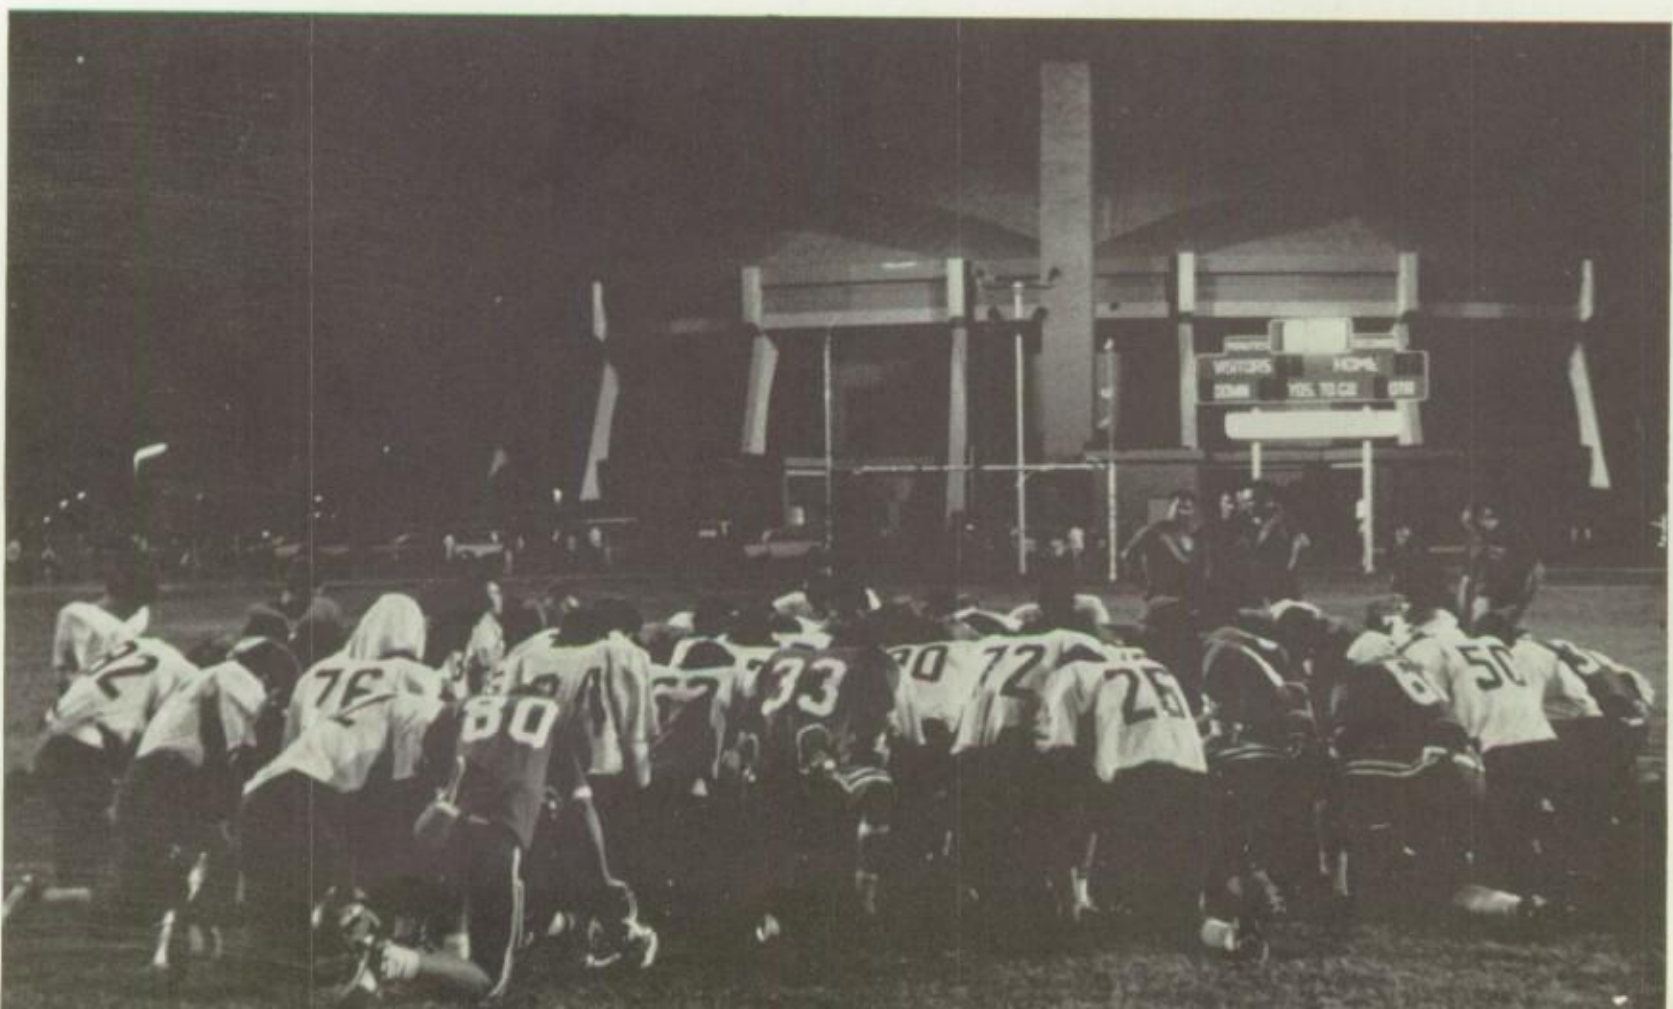

We want not only to learn to live
in,
But to change a world we never
made,

And we'll learn
To love one another,
"With a little help
From our friends."

A Year of Memories

Spirit '70!

Okay, I lost! I'll go out with her.

Well, I didn't know you were married.

Did they really get their crowns at Burger King?

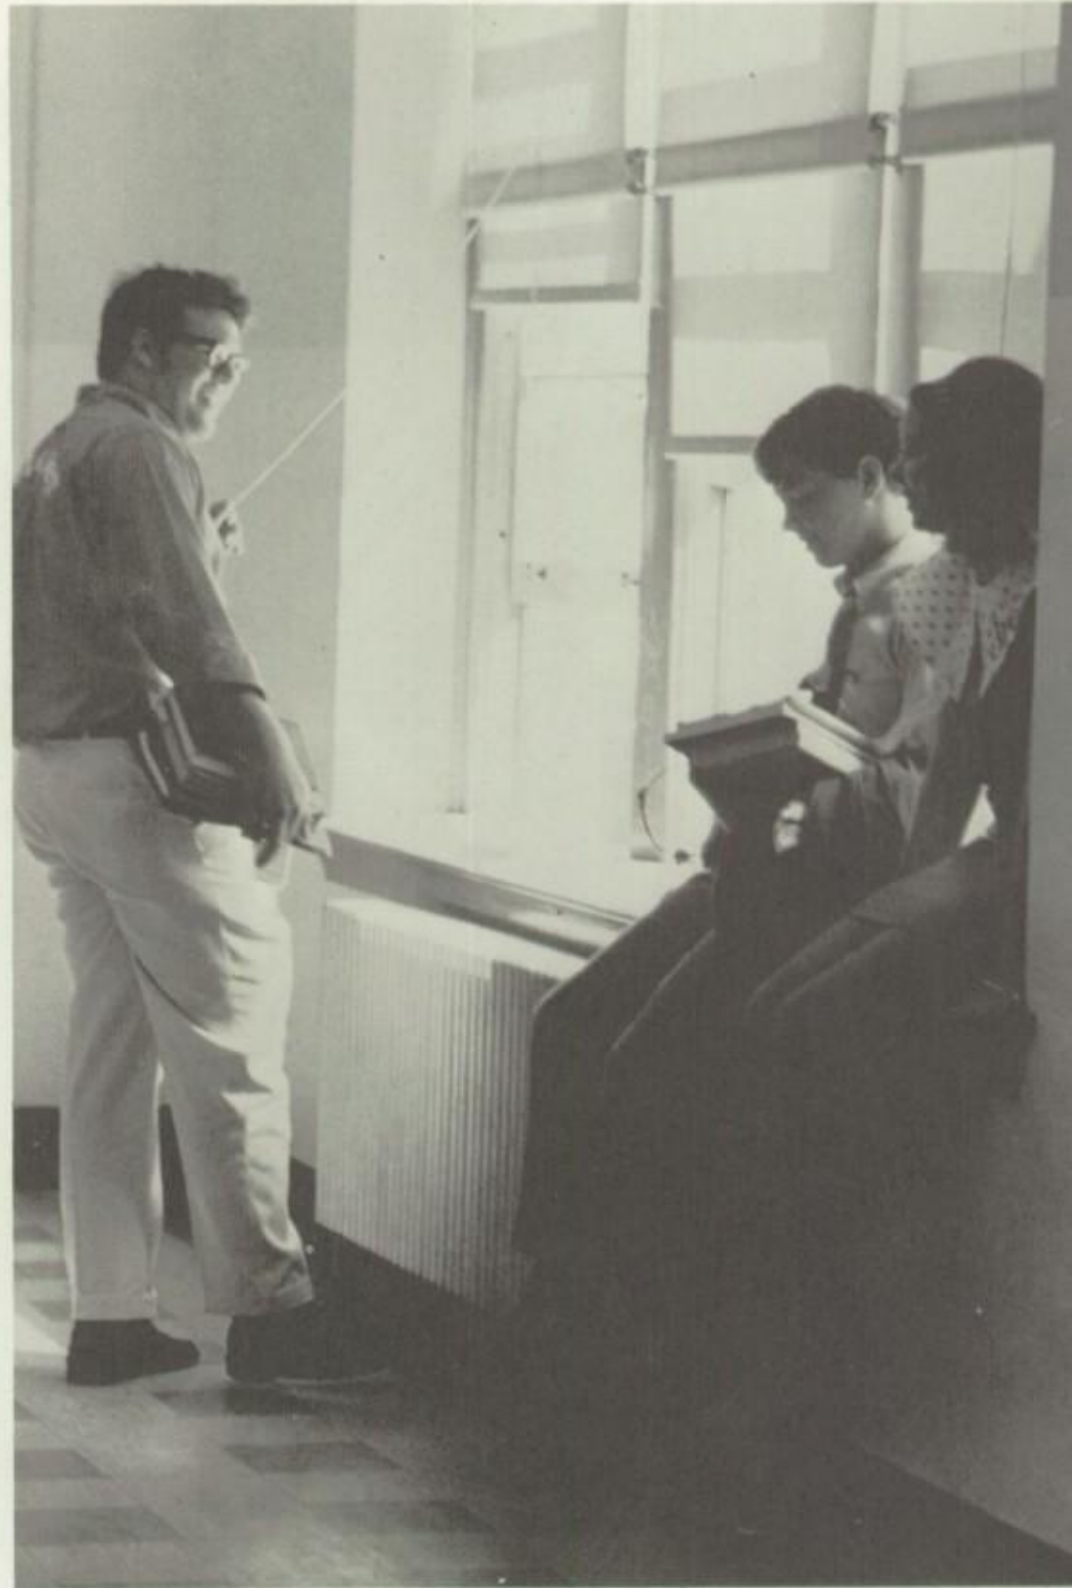

I've just been notified that we're being hijacked to Cuba! 141

Memories of Friends

All right, I believe Nutriment really works.

Guess what my barber's going to do?

You know she loves it.

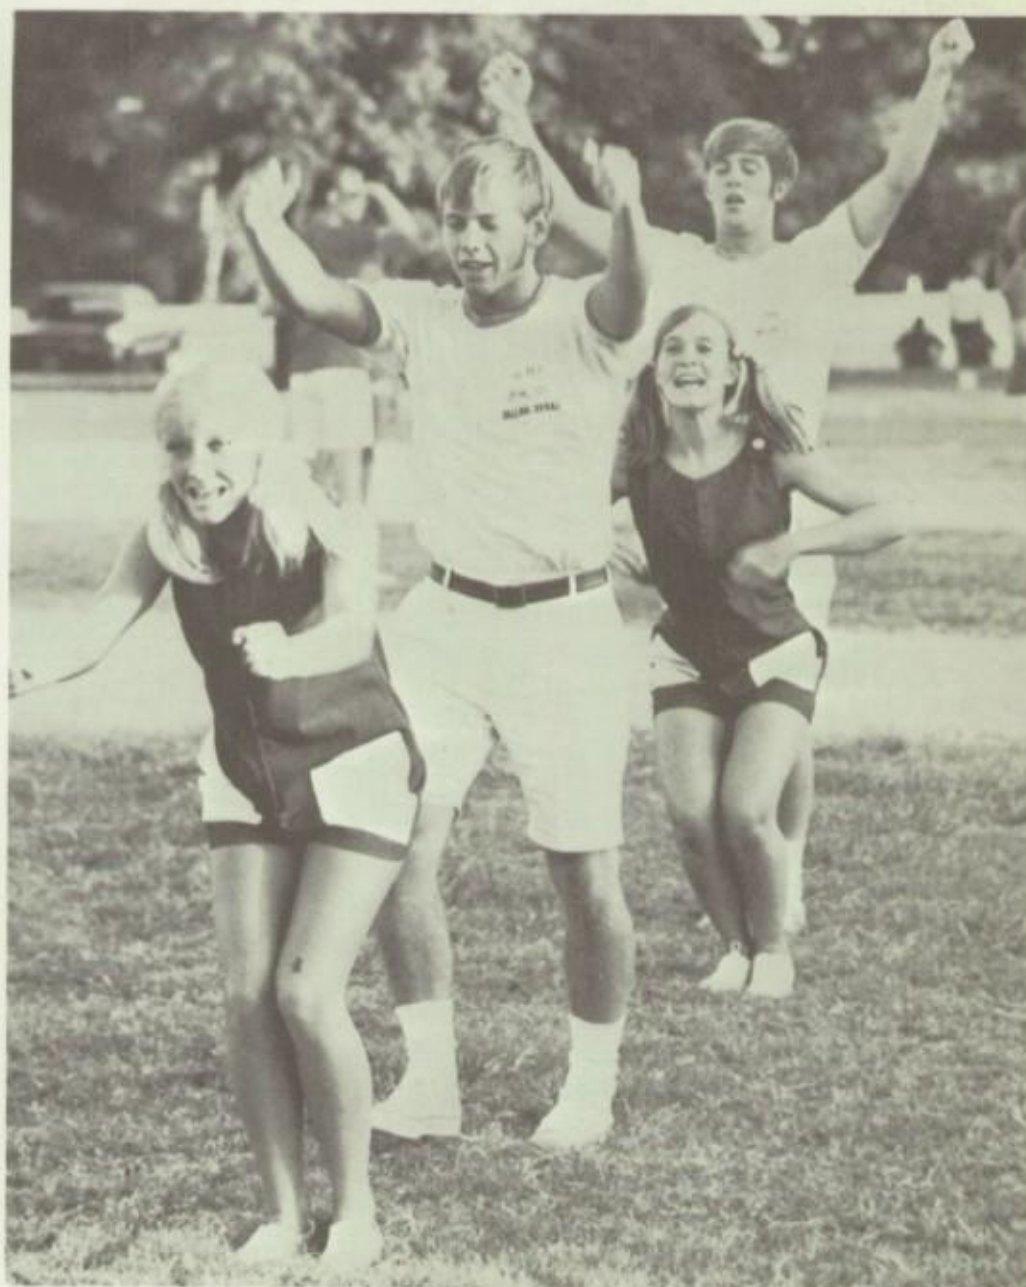

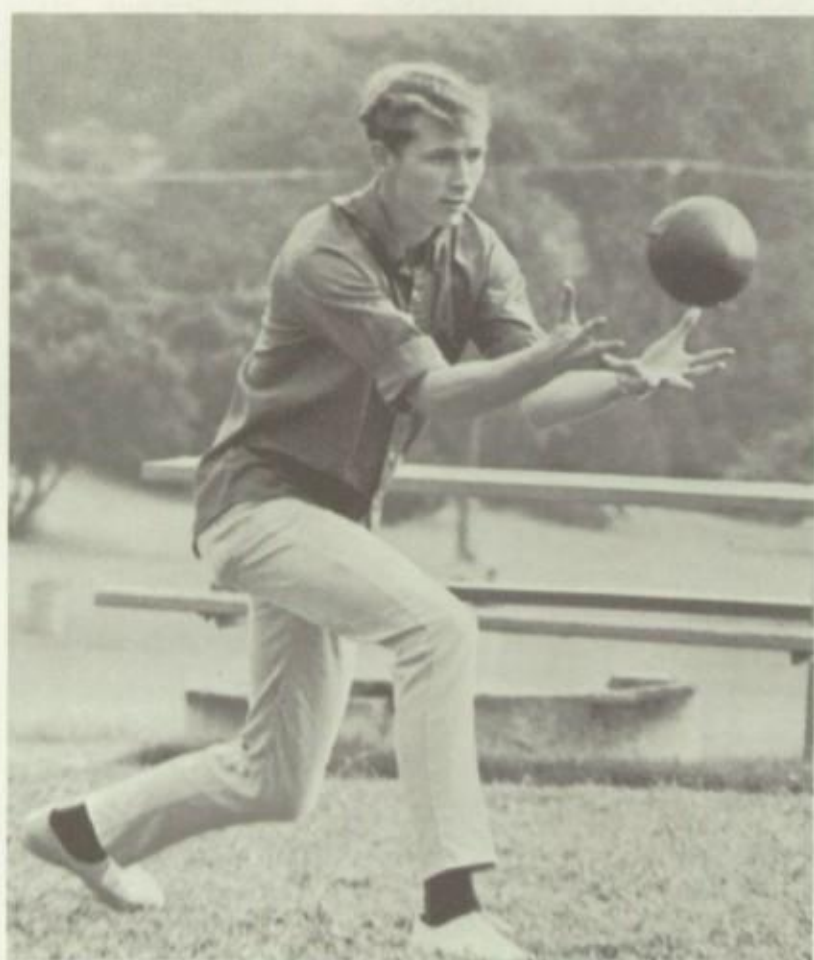

Does she or doesn't she ...

The ball was high, and so was I.

My mommy usually helps me get dressed.

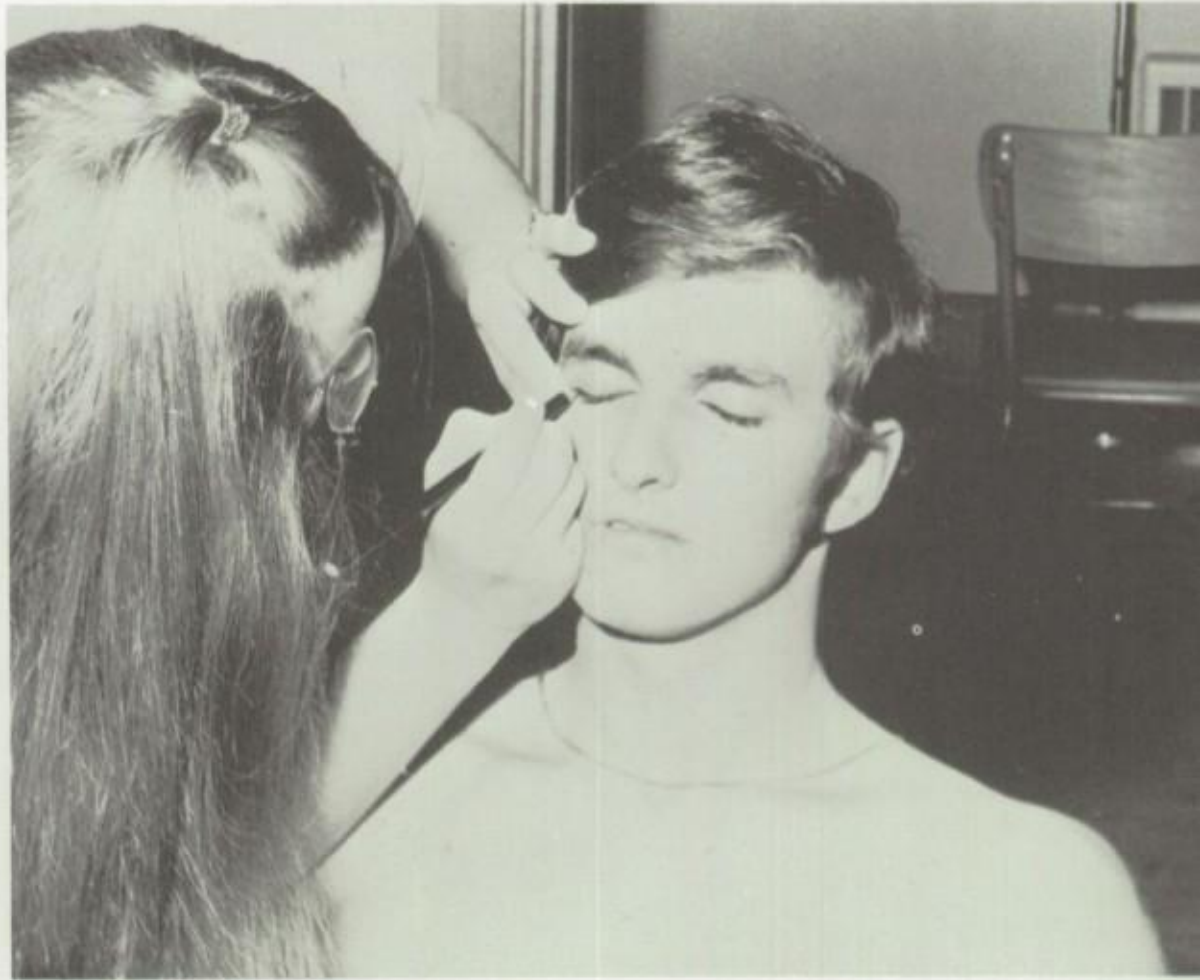

Who asked the pre-schoolers to join us?

Memories of Competition

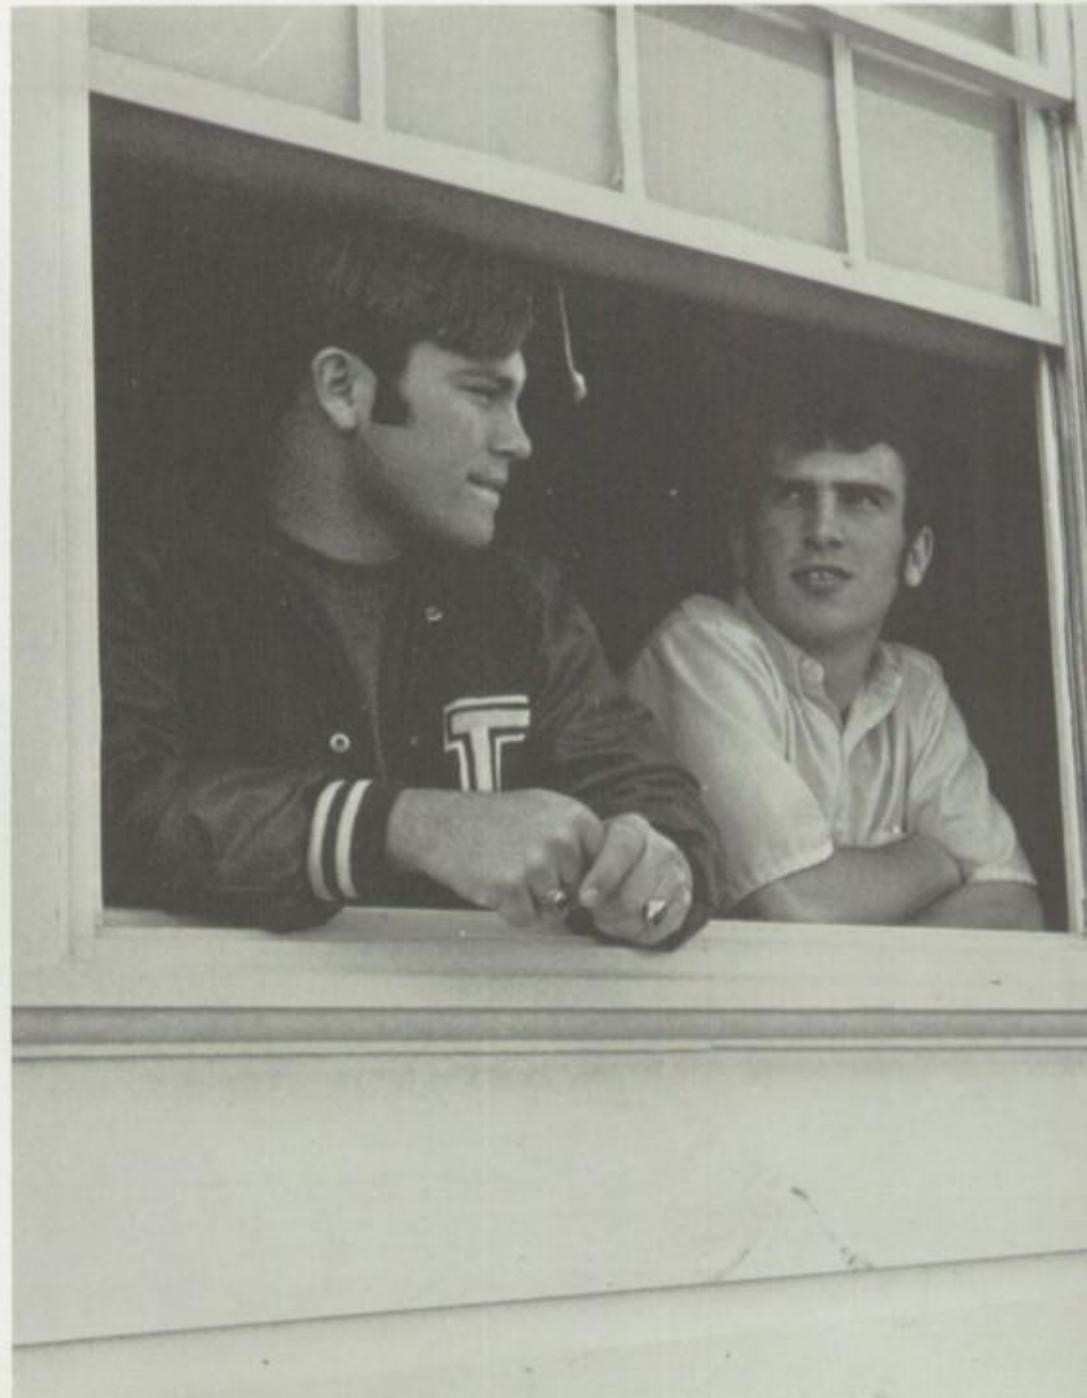

Memories of Sadness

No Steve, I didn't send you that Val-o-gram, Peggy did.

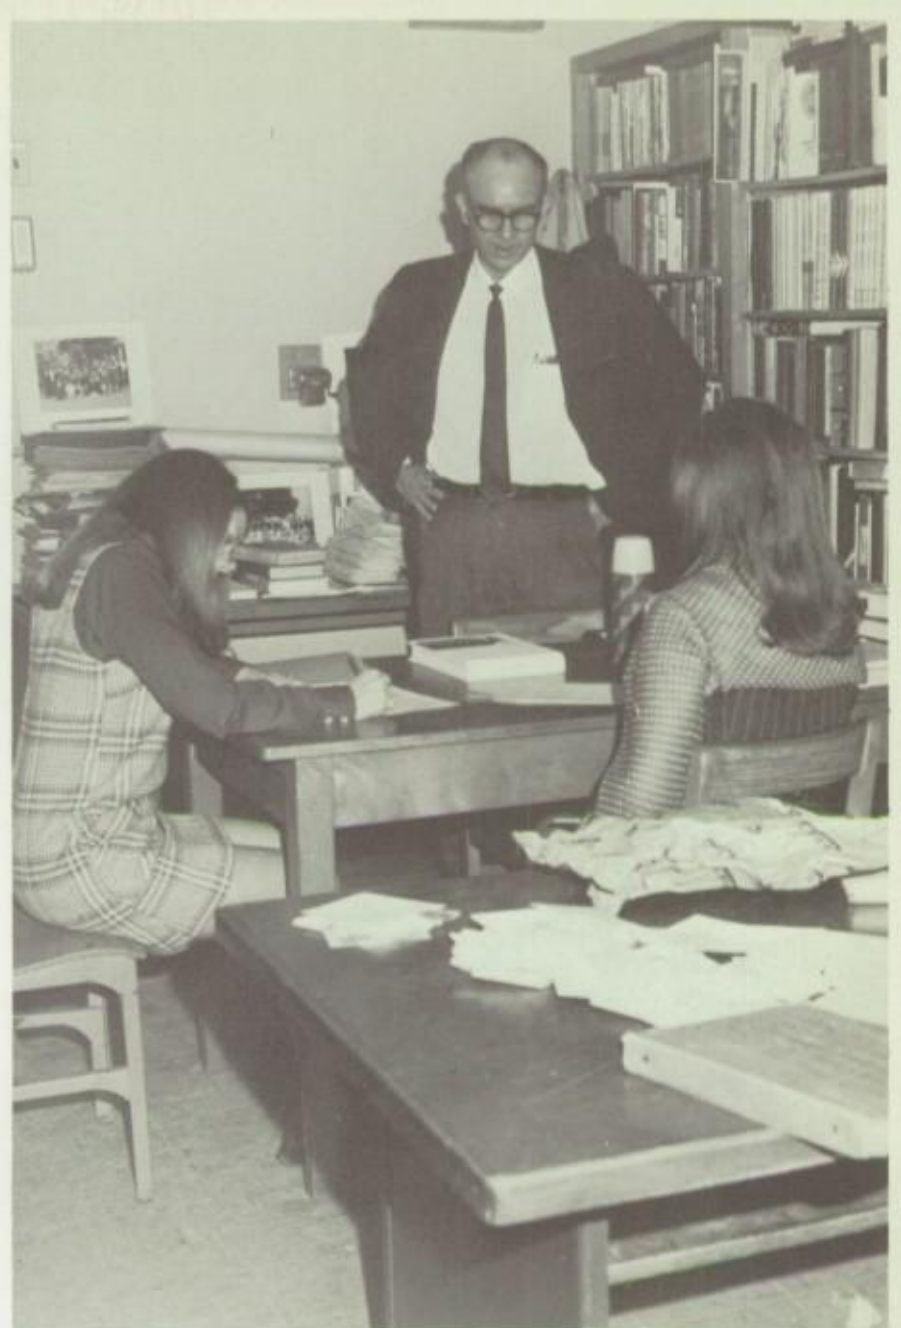

Maybelline for beautiful eyes.

Has anyone ever told you that you look like Cary Grant? I did think so.

But Mr. Skinner, why can't we hold hands under the table?

Get my point!

HELP!

Memories of Learning

Memories of Fun

Come in the bushes with me.

Rub-a-dub-dub, two girls in a tub.

Senior girls can count their dates on one hand.

There's something about an Aqua Velva man.

I hope I finish this in time for show and tell.

Your move Dan.

Memories of Work

A Year of Memories . . .

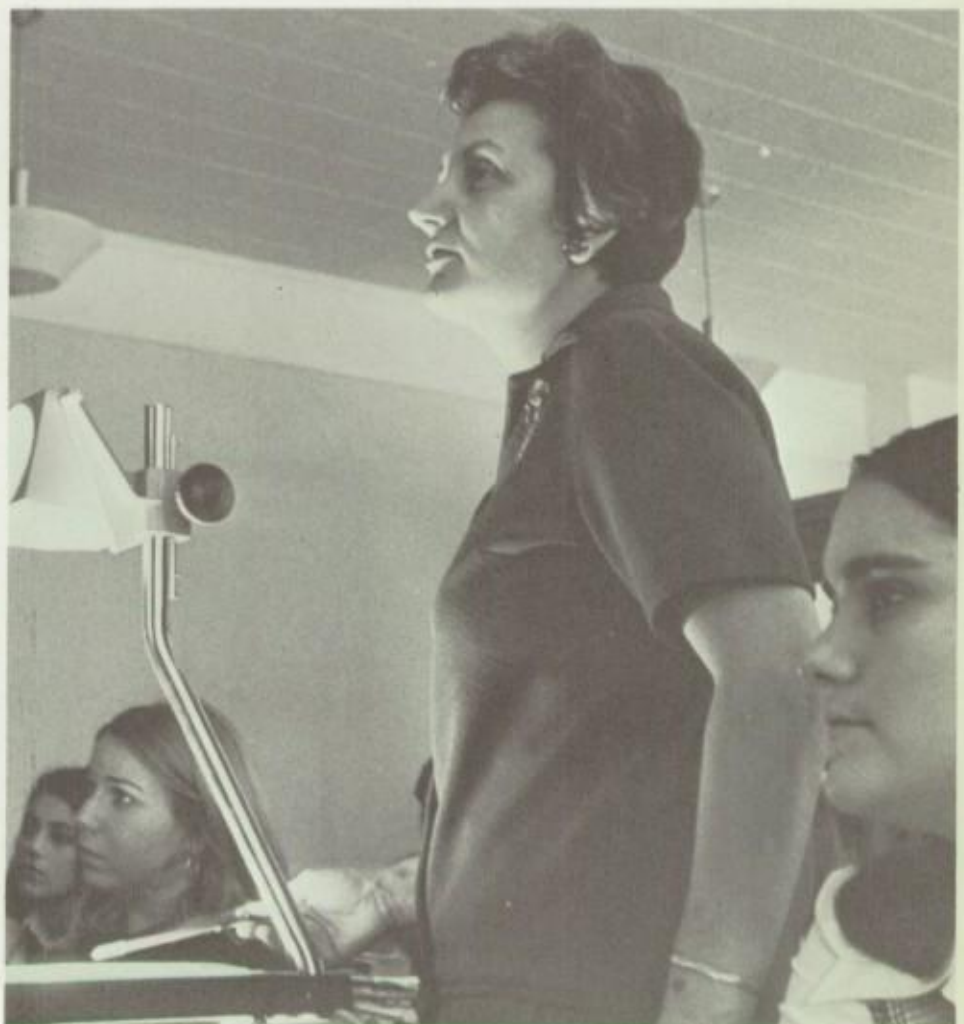

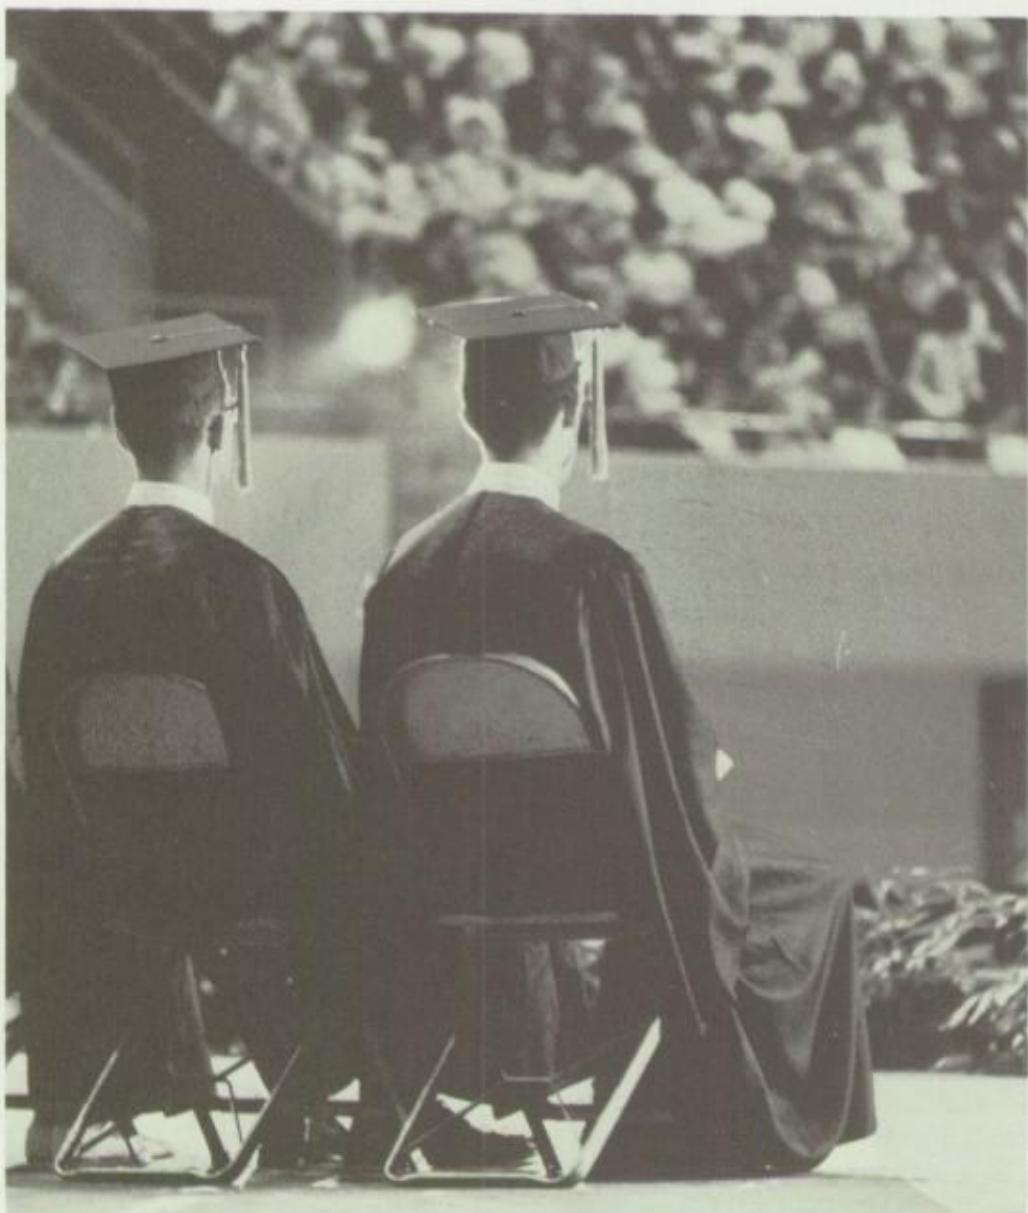

Don't try to run away again, Nancy.

Live T.V.

Are you sure this is a Coke?

Never to Be Forgotten.
